

WELCOME NEW EMPLOYEES

Sally Boyd has rejoined the Shipping department's swing shift crew. She and her husband moved from the area for a short time last winter but have returned to their home in Coal Creek. Sally, a native of Colorado, has a family of eight children.

Paddy Dawkins is learning the art of answering "little boy" letters in the Rocketeer Mail department. For twelve years she and her husband operated the Davis Paint Store in Canon City. They also acted as the local agent for Western Union for a number of years. Paddy enjoys knitting and doing crossword puzzles in her spare time.

Peggy Hammel is putting her skills to work in the Wood Shop on the swing shift. She and her husband, who is employed at C.F.&I., live here in Penrose. Peggy is the mother of four children and enjoys sewing for them.

Sharon Hand, a recent graduate of Arvada West High School, has moved back to Florence to live with her grandmother. A new member of the Kit Packing department's swing shift crew, Sharon likes to draw and paint.

Gretchen Head, the mother of a one-year old son, has joined the day crew in Kit Packing. Her husband is a professional musician. A life-long resident of Pueblo, Gretchen is now enjoying the country living here in Penrose.

Berneice McLain is applying her talents in the Mail Room. She is a new member of the graveyard shift crew. A resident of Florence, Berneice is an enthusiastic supporter of drag racing.

Ida Sarmiento has also joined the swing shift crew in Kit Packing. Ida is married and is the mother of three. Her husband is working on construction. Ida, residing with her family in Canon City, likes to draw and bowl in her spare time.

Rose Simmons, Pueblo, is learning to use the many machines in the Wood Shop on the graveyard shift. The mother of three children, Rose is originally from Minnesota. She enjoys working with ceramics.

Linda Wills is the third new member of the Kit Packing department's swing crew. She has lived in Canon City all of her life. Linda likes to spend some of her recreational time horseback riding. She and her husband have one child, a girl of eight months.

Mickey Andenucio, Pueblo, has joined the recently formed swing shift crew in the Print Shop. He has completed two years of work at Southern Colorado State College majoring in art. A month ago Mickey returned from a five-month stay in Mexico. Part of his activity during this visit to our neighboring country was the study of art.

Larry Reagan also lives in Pueblo and is a new Print Shop employee. A graduate of Florence High School, he particularly enjoyed a journalism class. Larry is an avid sports fan.

"Doc" Schwarze, Pueblo, is the third member of the swing shift crew in the Print Shop. The father of two children, he has taught graphic arts in South High School for the past six years. "Doc" has also taught school in Guam. He and his family spent one summer in Japan.

NEW CUSTODIAL CREW

Late Tuesday afternoon, some of the front office personnel joined Les Shaefer, Custodian, in "Operation Mop Up". Water from a hard fifteen-minute rain found its way into several of the west offices. Everyone but the photographer lent a helping hand.

RECORDS BROKEN

The Engine Manufacturing department set new production records two weeks in a row. The number of engines produced the week ending June 26 topped the previous record by 11%, and those manufactured the next week exceeded the old high by 30%.

Hats off to the Engine Manufacturing Crew!

STARVE IN

Two employees are reported to be conducting a "starve-in". Gene Street's family is visiting his wife's sister in Troy, North Carolina. It is their first trip to the East Coast. Chuck Helsel's wife is visiting her folks in Loveland and will be running a self-propelled combine for "Pop" next week. According to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the pets left at home are suffering from Gene and Chuck's atrocious cooking. Ugh!

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln never left Springfield, Illinois, nor made a single speech, and his whole national campaign cost $100,000. John F. Kennedy in 1960 traveled 44,000 miles in 43 states, made 360 speeches, spent $11 million of his party's money and an undetermined amount of his own.

Television in its own gilt-ridden way, has been the biggest single influence upon recent alterations in the art and science of political campaigning - and not the smallest of its effects has been the rampaging cost of public office for parties and individuals. - - Quote Magazine
